

The Happy Fox

Felicity the fox woke up with a stretch and a smile.

“Today feels like a happy day,” she said. She twirled in the sunlight and sang a little tune.

As she walked through the forest, she saw her friend Oliver the Owl.

“Good morning, Oliver!” she said cheerfully. “Why are you so happy?” asked Oliver. “I don’t know,” said Felicity. “I just am!”

Felicity helped a squirrel carry nuts,
She played hide-and-seek with the deer,
And she even gave her last berry to a hungry mouse.

With each kind act, her tail wagged faster.
“You’re making everyone else happy too,” said
the deer.
Felicity laughed. “Maybe that’s the secret!”

As the sun began to set, Felicity sat on a hill.
She looked at the pink sky and felt her heart full of joy.

“Happiness is everywhere,” she whispered.
“In the little things, in kind moments, and in friends.”

She closed her eyes, tail curled around her,
and fell asleep with a big, happy smile.
